

TWO BIRMINGHAM COVINGTON SCHOOL STUDENTS WIN A WINSTON CHURCHILL ESSAY CONTEST

The National Churchill Museum, located on the Westminster College campus in Fulton, MO, held their Winston Churchill Student Essay Contest for the third time this past school year.

The essay topic this year was “Winston Churchill: A Renaissance Man?” Middle school and high school students from across the state submitted scholarly essays in hopes of winning one of six cash prizes.

With his essay, “Winston Churchill-Renaissance Man,” Birmingham Covington School student Joseph D. won second prize in the middle school division. Claire B., also from Birmingham Covington School, placed third for her essay “I Met a Man Named Winston: A Present Day Renaissance Man.”
